Responding to a lack of stores offering unique but wearable clothes for men, Jeff and Marty Blue opened Blue Dry Goods in the spring of 2008. The re-introduction of menswear to Concord Center was met with tremendous response from a wide range of customers and, in the fall of 2008, Blue Dry Goods expanded its selection to include boys' sizes 8-20.

Recognizing that few men enjoy shopping for clothes, Blue Dry Goods makes it easy by bringing together a variety of hard-to-find brands in a convenient and comfortable setting. We take pride in selecting current (but not trendy) styles at affordable prices. We also enjoy helping customers find updated clothes to match their personal style.

Colonial Stores is a women's specialty store with department store selections. Bob Petersen, born and raised in Concord, began working at Colonial Stores in 1962 as a stock boy while attending Concord-Carlisle High School. In 1970 he purchased the store, and with the help of a qualified staff, the store has evolved from greeting cards and photo supplies to the women's shop it is today.

What makes our shop unique is our wide selection of brands typically only found in department stores. We carry major cosmetic lines such as Lancome and Clarins. We offer lingerie from Jockey, Mary Green, Hanky Panky, Wacoal, Eileen West, Miss Elaine, and

P.J. Salvage. We offer bath and body products from Thymes, Caswell-Massey, Crabtree & Evelyn and Vitabath. In addition, we offer jewelry, hosiery, and fine fragrance for both men and women. Why travel to the mall when you can come to Colonial Stores?

Our success is from loyal customers who love to shop locally. We pride ourselves on great customer service and developing personal customer relationships. Whether you need a new skincare regimen, an undergarment update, or that emergency pair of pantyhose for a special occasion, we look forward to helping you!

Mon - Fri 7:00 am - 6:00 pm year-round

In the spring of 1975, a group of people committed to establishing the first day care center in Concord came together to discuss their ideas. This group crafted a vision of a preschool that would meet the needs of children, support working families, and be based on the concept that young children learn through active involvement with their world. Within a few months, this vision had become a reality, and Concord Children's Center opened its doors in September 1975 at the Harvey Wheeler building in West Concord.

Today, CCC serves more than 200 children and their families. CCC has grown to be an important part of the town of Concord and a local leader in early childhood care and education. The basis of CCC's programs today is the same as it was in 1975: a curriculum based on children's innate curiosity and creativity; a staff of professionally trained early childhood educators who believe that educating young children is a partnership between parents and teachers; and an awareness of the importance of nature-based play.

CCC is an accredited, nonprofit school committed to the development and early education of young children from the age of 10 weeks through second grade. Whether you are seeking year-round infant or toddler care, preschool education, or a vibrant afterschool program for your kindergartener, first-grader, or second-grader, we encourage you to explore CCC.

There are few towns in America with such a confluence of history, culture, and world-renowned ideas as Concord. As the steward of a collection that spans the history of Concord from Native American settlement to the present, the Concord Museum tells the story of our shared history and identity as Americans. Founded in 1886, the Concord Museum is an irreplaceable cornerstone of the Concord experience for visitors from around the world, as well as a vital educational and cultural resource for residents of Greater Boston.

The museum's outstanding collection of over 35,000 objects includes the famous Revere lantern, Emerson's Study, the desk on which Thoreau wrote Walden, and exceptional furniture, silver, ceramics, and needlework.

The Concord Museum's extraordinary ability to connect people with history is evident in outstanding public programs for children to lifelong learners, model education programs, innovative exhibitions, award-winning publications, and a distinctive museum shop.

As an independent, non-profit organization, the museum depends largely on the generosity of individual donors who support the museum through membership, annual fund contributions, major gifts, and fundraising events. Concord Museum is accredited by the American Association of Museums, the highest professional recognition and a distinction awarded to less than 5% of museums nationwide.

Maybe it's the best houmous outside the Middle East that draws people in. Or homemade soup juxtaposed with books on principles of Tao, or those 150 small drawers that hold herbs and fresh cinnamon. Maybe it's creams with rose that feed body and soul that bring people in.

Got a cold? The flu? Debra's Natural Gourmet is home of "The Immune Dragon Superbrew—worst tasting, best working", and other herbal and homeopathic remedies. And it's the home of Stark Sisters Granola.

There's sustainably grown produce and local, organic, and biodynamic meat, cheese, and pesto.

But it's the staff and community at Debra's

Natural Gourmet who keep people coming back. It's the gluten-free foods, raw foods, organic chicken, and lentils of every color, and Debra's award-winning kitchen. Yankee Magazine's readers named Debra's one of the three best kitchens in New England!

You can share Debra's recipes because they've been collected in our third cookbook called, The Blue Ribbon Edition: From Our Kitchen to Yours.

Robert Fairbank and Geraldine Kish Perry are the principal designer-goldsmiths of Fairbank and Perry Goldsmiths, a destination for custom and original fine jewelry. For 31 years, our business has been defined by a deep respect for the craft of fine jewelry making. Longtime supporters of the arts and NPR, we are informed and inspired by our world near and far, and seek to provide something of value to every visitor: a jewel, creative inspiration, or simply information about our art.

Our comfortable Main Street gallery is home to weekly design sessions, client consultations, and displays of our latest work. Everyone on our team is a trained goldsmith and/or gemologist, and we collaborate to create each piece by hand in our on-site visible workshop.

Using only recycled gold, platinum, palladium, and silver, we translate our clients' personal stories into wearable artwork: wedding rings depicting a couple's favorite canoeing river; a pendant modeled after a romantic poet's fountain pen; a modern ring setting for treasured heirloom diamonds. Our relationship with our community is essential to our creativity, and infuses our jewelry with a distinctive quality. Come, rediscover how personally meaningful jewelry can be!

After selling my company WOWFactor in the late 90's and being hired by a large Wall Street firm, I was quickly dissatisfied with the level of service and confusing fees and decided to create a new, more personal, transparent, integrated, and objective approach.

Louisa May Alcott's Orchard House (c. 1600's)—the home where the beloved novel, Little Women, was written and set in 1868—holds a special attraction for readers throughout the world.

A visit to this treasured historic site not only provides glimpses into life lived long ago and details of the fact and fiction in Little Women, but also reveals fascinating information about the unique, talented Alcott family, their significant contributions to literature, art, and philosophy, and their vital role in leading reforms such as abolition and woman's rights.

Orchard House is privileged to contain a majority of original Alcott artifacts, making it one of the oldest and most authentically presented historic house museums in America.

Students, scholars, and Little Women fans alike can enjoy award-winning guided tours, thought-provoking, standards-based educational programs, and interactive "living history" events offered year-round. Journalists and researchers are welcome to make appointments to discuss projects relating to the Alcotts and Orchard House.

Also on the premises are The Concord School of Philosophy (c. 1879)—a highly successful adult education center founded by progressive educator and Transcendentalist A. Bronson Alcott—Victorian flower gardens, and a museum store.

We hope to see you soon!

The story behind the McWalter-Volunteer Insurance Agency, Inc. is the history of a family who, for three generations during the past 100 years, has been serving the people of Concord, its surrounding towns and all of New England. The agency takes great pride in the fact that many of their current clients are the great-grandchildren of Mr. Maurice McWalter's first customers.

Constant growth, combined with personalized attention, has been the key to the success of the agency.

In 1907, a Concord attorney, the late Maurice McWalter, founded the agency in conjunction with his legal practice. He was joined by his oldest son, John, in 1930. John's oldest son, Jack, joined the agency in 1952, followed by son Dick in 1958, and son David in 1965.

In 1998 David merged the agency with the Volunteer Insurance Agency, Inc., with its offices in Concord and Maynard. Joining David in the merger were Charlie Gibbs and John O'Donoghue. In 2008, Cato Anderson joined the agency.

Together the four longtime insurance professionals, David McWalter, Charlie Gibbs, John O'Donoghue and Cato Anderson, added additional insurance markets, grew to new heights and poised the company to launch into the second millennium of existence.

THE COTTAGE
DISTINCTIVE FURNISHING & ACCENTS

Since it opened in 1996, The Cottage has become the destination for home owners wanting what no other furniture store or interior designer could offer them: the ultimate “one-stop” shopping experience for all of their interior design needs.

By combining an experienced design team with over 4,000 sq. ft. of retail space and extensive custom capabilities, we offer the resources of the largest furniture store and the personal touch of a small boutique. This combination allows us to provide our customers with a refreshingly unique design that is comprehensive, custom, and coordinated in all aspects.

No matter what the size or location of your design project, we can satisfy your home furnishing needs. Our projects have varied from one room to an entire home, both existing or in construction.

Most furniture stores can help you with floor plans and furniture selections, but they typically offer only limited custom capability; for the rest of the makeover, you’re on your own. An interior designer can help you create a custom look, but that often requires the customer to accompany the designers on numerous visits to different stores.

The Cottage is your resource for the entire home—for furniture, window treatments, rugs, accents, everything!

A customer writes:

"For anyone who recalls such childhood thrills as losing a lazy afternoon in the back of an older relative's closet or drawers, emerging from shoe boxes and stale fabric aglow with storylines inevitably connected to every loose thread and scrap of paper that escaped disposal, or over-stuffing pockets and bags with stones or shells on a beach, perfectly shaped pebbles or pinecones on a hike, and the like, only to let an equal amount of time pass arranging and sorting the findings, will not be able to resist this shop. Ephemera and jewelry are individually packaged and placed into boxes or organizers alongside silverware tied with string and classic novels, housewares, clothing, furniture, and artwork, postcards, buttons, clasps, zippers, appliances, lace, sculpture, hats, photographs, cookbooks, all stacked with purpose and intent, colors juxtaposed just-so, shapes echoing and offsetting each other to make absorbing the entire store nearly impossible. Each individual shelf, corner, fraction of a wall must be taken on its own, almost as artwork itself ... Thoreauly Antiques is so composed, so humble, so endearing, it makes anything that may qualify as junk instantly precious. Antiquing has never been so easy on the eyes."

Verrill Farm is operated as a partnership between Stephen and Joan Verrill and daughter Jennifer Verrill Faddoul. In 1982, after years of planning and negotiations, we placed about 200 acres under a permanent Agricultural Preservation Restriction, thus preventing development of this land. One hundred forty acres of the farm are in vegetable production with a wide variety ranging from asparagus to zucchini, with specialties being heirloom tomatoes and sweet corn. Our primary market is our farmstand at 11 Wheeler Rd.

The building has many green features including a rooftop solar array, recycled heat from the refrigeration system, automated lighting and natural light.

The kitchen/bakery/deli provides fresh, home-style foods and baked goods with extensive use of our own produce. Baked goods, soups, made-to-order sandwiches and entrees to take home are customer favorites. We strive to offer a fine selection of locally produced foods and products. Please buy local—we do!

HOURS OF OPERATION:

Brister's Hill -
Every day from dawn to dusk

Thoreau Institute -
Monday - Friday, 10 am - 4 pm see below

The Walden Woods Project is a non-profit organization that preserves the land, literature, and legacy of the famed Concord author and naturalist, Henry David Thoreau. The organization protects numerous sites in the 2,680-acre Walden Woods -- the inspiration for many of Thoreau's writings. The public is invited to walk the one-mile, self-guided interpretive path at Brister's Hill celebrating the environmental and social significance of this site. Thoreau's words (and the words of those he influenced) are incised in granite to interpret the landscape and illustrate the powerful insights Thoreau contributed. The trail starts on Walden Street, near Route 2. Park at the Walden Pond

State Reservation or in the visitor parking places at Haggood Wright Town Forest on Walden Street.

The Project owns and manages the Thoreau Institute at 44 Baker Farm Road in nearby Lincoln, MA. The Institute houses the most comprehensive body of Thoreau-related material.

Exhibit space in the library displays historical manuscripts, papers, and artifacts related to Thoreau. The Institute is open to the public from 10 am - 4 pm on most weekdays (closed weekends). We suggest you call in advance to schedule a tour. Contact Jeff Cramer, curator of collections, at 781-259-4730 or at jeff.cramer@walden.org.
